DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 13: The languages like "allow" or "permit" are indefinite. It is unclear what applicant's intended metes and bounds of the claim are, since the claim appears to cover anything and everything that does not prohibit actions from occurring. They do not cause any functionality to occur in the computer. Applicant is advised to replace the word "allow" to "authorize" or "grant".

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-12,14-31 are allowed.

Claim 1: Prior art of record does not teach each selector is operable to use regularly changing random bit source to randomize selection operation in an identical manner at each separate party, thereby to render regular changes of random bit source available at respective ones of at least two separate parties.

Claim 14: Prior art of record does not teach a random selector configured for selecting part, part comprising random individual bits from publicly available primary digital bitstream, therefrom to form a regularly changing random data stream, wherein random selector is randomized by a previous part of regularly changing random data stream, thereby to enable random data stream to be available in identical manner at a plurality of locations.

Claim 21: Prior art of record does not teach randomly selecting at each party in a selection operation a copy of a part of an available and regularly changing primary digital data bit stream, regularly changing available primary digital data bit stream being external to the parties and available identical manner at each party, randomly selected regularly changing copy to form a regularly changing random data source changing identically at each party.

Claims 2-12,15-20,22-31 are allowed because of dependency.

Response to Amendment

In view of Applicant's Amendment filed 1/9/08, claims 1-12,14-31 are allowed. However, Examiner discovered new issue during the examination of the claims. See above.
